

Comprehensive Subjects

Course Code	Subject	Credit	Content of subject
30DESa04	Science,Technology and Society I	1	It is essential for researchers to understand the social foundation of their research activities. This lecture course examines the institutions and policies that have supported and affected scientific and technological research from historical and contemporary perspectives. We also discuss research ethics and problems arising from interaction between scientific research and society. Japanese (first term)/English (second term) 【Not offered in 2022】
30DESa05	Science,Technology and Society II	1	Because of the huge impacts that science and technology can have on society, as well as the large amount of funding they require, researchers today are required to have a deep understanding of the relation between science and society and to explain the social impact of their research, including its significance for society. This course provides students with an opportunity to consider and discuss the social impacts of their own research and research activity in general.	ITO Kenji
30PCS501	Freshman Course	2	The program gives new students opportunities to develop fundamental knowledge and skills necessary for graduate students.

A two-digit number or letter will be entered to  according to the semester or the lecturer in charge.